

Odyssey 2010

the 30th International Gathering of Lettering Artists is continuing Boston's long tradition of celebrating and protecting freedom of expression. We invite you to immerse yourself in all things calligraphic and beyond for a week of classes, lectures, commercial and faculty exhibitions; as well as time to reconnect with friends and colleagues and forge new relationships. Escape all those daily details that get in the way of your creativity. We are offering 2.5 and 5-day classes in lettering and related arts at Stonehill College in Easton.

A city steeped in the history of the US,

Boston and the surrounding area offer much for summer visitors. For history buffs there are local historical and genealogical societies, museums, buildings, ships, battlefields and bridges. For artists, there are the new Institute of Contemporary Art, The Museum of Fine Arts, as well as wonderful regional museums in the metro area. For shoppers there are many boutiques in several in-town locations as well as quaint shops in surrounding small towns such as Lexington and Concord. Cape Cod and the islands are an hour south. New Hampshire and Maine to the north offer mountain trails and lake vistas as well as vast areas of Atlantic coastline.
